Now Available for Review

TEMPLE, Georgia/US - April 30, 2017 - Verlain Todd's Life Interrupted is a five-story collection that illustrates the different struggles and situations of life. Life throws us some mean hardballs and everyone handles these situations differently. Each character has an obstacle to overcome and not all of them win in the end. The collection was inspired by emotional personal experiences of her own life into a creative format. This book can be purchased on Smashwords.com for $1.99.

"No Rest for the Living" explores the mind of Peter, a young man who went off to pursue his career but stayed away too long. He learns that his only living parent is not doing so well and he is full of regret as he returns home.

In "Visitation Day," young Marisa is nervous and anxious that she has to sit through another visitation hour with her father, who has been everything but a true father figure to her.

"We'll Be in Touch" is a whirlwind of fear, anxiety, and blackmail as Cindy is forced to participate in a weird blind date. The restaurant is nothing fancy and her date is a catch, but they will definitely not be meeting each other's parents.

In the exciting "Macy Face," Macy is running for her life from a crazy ex who won't take no for an answer. She finds herself in a life-threatening situation when he finally catches up with her.

The final story "Claire and Sweet Sherry," follows Claire who must decide if she is strong enough to stand up to her cheating husband. She will have to choose how to find the dignity and closing she deserves in a fancy hotel room.

Verlain R Todd is short story author, playwright, screenwriter, scriptwriter, and novelist who takes great pleasure in inspiring and motivating others with her Christian/faith-based stories.
